

Technologies for an aging society will be an important part of how we will be able to maintain and improve quality of life for older individuals at a societal scale. The European commission has been at the leading edge of this work for some time. The AALIANCE2 project (<http://www.aaliance.eu>), funded by the European Commission's ICT Programme within the European Framework Programme, continues to build upon the successful work and the wide network already established in the AALIANCE Innovation platform (2008-2010). The EU Commission is investing heavily in technologies and solutions for an ageing society (at home, in society, at work), and they are very interested in sharing visions with the U.S., and in promoting specific collaborations between EU and U.S. initiatives in this field (the coming Horizon2020 Program gives highest priority to EU-USA collaborations). AALIANCE2's goal - among others - is to build consensus upon research priorities in an AAL (Ambient Assisted Living) Roadmap and Strategic Research Agenda (SRA) for the upcoming decades. This will be the second exercise on writing AAL Roadmap and SRA. The result of the previous exercise can be found at <http://tinyurl.com/lkd97jj> .

Professor Dario and several of his team will be presenting an overview of the AALIANCE2 Project and along with the Center on Longevity, gathering input and coordinating discussion with the group. This is an excellent opportunity to get an overview of the work going on in Europe in this area, have input to their future roadmap, and discuss potential collaborations.
